FUND AND MARKET PERFORMANCE

For the fiscal year ended April 30, 2025, the Steward Values Enhanced Large Cap Fund (Class R6) (the "Fund") returned 11.30%. For comparison purposes, the return for the S&P 500 Index (the "Benchmark") for the same period was 12.10%.

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE CONTRIBUTORS TO PERFORMANCE

The Fund implements a strategy to upweight companies that rank at the top of its positive value score rankings. At fiscal year end, the Fund screened out 7.3% of the Benchmark weight; therefore the Fund upweighted 73 companies by at least 10 basis points each. This is an increase of 4 companies from a year ago. Performance of the Fund can also be affected by the Fund's values-based screening policies. For the fiscal year ended April 30, 2025, the values-based screening policies had a negative performance impact on the Fund, detracting 40 basis points. Not owning companies such as Philip Morris (tobacco), up 88.59%, Eli Lilly (embryonic stem cell research), up 15.85%, and AbbVie (embryonic stem cell research), up 24.35%, detracted 60 basis points of performance. Conversely, not owning companies such as Merck (embryonic stem cell research), down 32.12%, Thermo Fisher Scientific (embryonic stem cell research), down 24.35%, and UnitedHealth Group (abortion), down 13.57%, positively impacted performance by 43 basis points.

LOOKING AHEAD

With an eventful start to the year, the rest of 2025 should be anything but calm. Markets have jitters not seen in many years, with any mention of tariffs, pauses or deal-making sparking large swings. The VIX continues to oscillate, and consumer confidence is dwindling. Whispers of stagflation have begun to surface as investors wait to understand the impact tariffs will have on prices and economic growth. It is a pivotal moment in the history of global trade policy and each day seemingly brings new challenges. Caution and perseverance should win the day as we move forward.
