How did the Fund perform last year? What affected the Fund's performance?

FUND AND MARKET PERFORMANCE

For the fiscal year ended April 30, 2026, the Steward Values Enhanced International Fund (Class A) (the "Fund") returned 30.39%, underperforming the S&P International 700 ADR Index (the "Benchmark") return of 43.62%. For comparison purposes, the return for the Fund's secondary benchmark (the "Blended Benchmark Index"), comprised of the S&P Developed Markets ADR Index (85%) and the S&P Emerging 50 ADR Index (15%), returned 32.26% for the period.

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE CONTRIBUTORS TO PERFORMANCE

The Fund's dual market structure kept the same allocation to emerging markets during the fiscal year: 80% allocated toward non-U.S. developed markets (DM) and 20% toward emerging markets (EM). As a reminder, the Fund's dual market structure has historically tilted its EM allocation between 10-20% of total net assets, with 15% representing a neutral position. During the year, the allocation to EM positively impacted the Fund by 156 basis points ("bps") relative to the Blended Benchmark Index.

As it relates to countries, Denmark was the largest positive contributor to relative performance, driven by the Fund's inability to hold Novo Nordisk. The United Kingdom was the largest negative contributor to relative performance, due to positive performing exclusions, AstraZeneca and British American Tobacco.

The Fund's values-based screening policies impact performance relative to the Benchmark. For the year fiscal year ended April 30, 2026, the Fund's values-based screening detracted from relative performance by 252 bps. Not owning large index weights Novartis (32.9%) and AstraZeneca (30.9%), negatively impacted the portfolio by 247 bps. The Fund is unable to hold both due to embryonic stem cell research. Not owning underperforming stocks Novo Nordisk (-34.4%) and Sanofi SA (-11.7%) positively impacted relative performance by 163 bps. Novo Nordisk is removed due to embryonic stem cell research and Sanofi for abortion-related activities.
